Russia Due To Lead Off East Debate

U. N. Session Will Hear Demand U. S. Forces Be Removed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and 75 helpers prepared today for a drive to get the U.N. General Assembly's emergency session to demand withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon and British troops from Jordan.

Gromyko was expected to speak early in the general debate, which starts Wednesday. He said on his arrival from Moscow Sunday that the Soviet government considers the question of the withdrawals very serious and his delegation "will do their best... to achieve positive results."

Asian neutralists were reported seeking some means of inducing the Western powers to pull their troops out quickly so the Assembly could concentrate on other Middle Eastern problems. The group holds the balance of power in the 81-nation Assembly.

Enlarged Border Corps?

There was some belief that enlargement of the U.N. border observer corps in Lebanon might get U.S. forces out of there. They admitted Jordan was a tougher problem.

The United States and Britain have promised to withdraw their forces when the U.N. can protect the two countries, whose governments have said the United Arab Republic is working to overthrow them.

To Seek Withdrawal

Fawzi also was ordered to press for withdrawal of U.S. and British troops from Lebanon and Jordan. "This particular part of Dr. Fawzi's mission is not subject to bargaining whatsoever," the semi-official Cairo newspaper said.

The United States is reported planning to propose a police force to protect threatened countries, a watchdog commission to monitor propaganda broadcasts, an investigating commission to recommend long-range solutions, and a Middle Eastern economic plan, all under the U.N.

Elsewhere:

An army spokesman in the Syrian province of the U.A.R. claimed that a U.S. jet plane from Lebanon had trespassed over Syria but was driven back by an anti-aircraft battery. There was no confirmation from the U.S. command in Beirut.

In Lebanon, near the Syrian border, Ahmed Hammoud, a top leader of Lebanon's Syrian Social National party, and two party members were found murdered. There was some speculation they might have been the victims of bandits.

Soviets Send British Note

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev sent a new note to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today, the Foreign Office disclosed.

Details of the note were not disclosed, but it was understood it contained no new proposals on a summit conference.

The Soviet note was in reply to Macmillan's letter of last Thursday which accused Khrushchev of backing out of a clear-cut agreement to attend a summit meeting.

Informed sources said Khrushchev rejected the British charges and blamed the West for failing to bring about a summit conference.

Demos, GOP Split On Adams Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Democratic and Republican members of a House subcommittee differ sharply on whether their report vindicates the conduct of Sherman Adams in a military contract settlement case.

The report, made public Sunday by the House Armed Services Investigations subcommittee, said it found no evidence indicating presidential assistant Adams intended to influence the $40,382 penalty refund, after nearly 17 years, to Raylaine Worsteds, Inc., Manchester, N. H.

But when interviewed, members of the subcommittee divided along party lines in putting their own interpretations on their findings. The report, adopted unanimously, was described by Rep. Porter Hardy (D-Va.), a member, as "a minimum in the way of conclusions, but a maximum on which the subcommittee could agree."

Hailed As Vindication

Republicans hailed the report as vindication of Adams, who has been involved in two congressional investigations of reports that his prestige was used to get favored treatment for others. Adams has denied bringing any improper pressure to bear, either in this case or another involving textile manufacturer Bernard Goldfine.

In its report, the subcommittee determined that Sen. Glynn Bridges and Rep. Chester E. Merrow, both New Hampshire Republicans, and Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) at various times made inquiries about the Raylaine case. But there was no criticism of them.

Asks Transcript Read

On the Adams aspect of the case, Hardy suggested the public read the transcript of the subcommittee's closed door hearings and "judge for themselves whether the conduct disclosed in the subcommittee hearings conforms either to their personal standards or to the precepts which have been voiced in high places."

Rep. William E. Hess (Ohio), senior Republican member of the subcommittee, said such a reading would show "not one scintilla of evidence of any attempt to influence the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals either by Sherman Adams or members of Congress."

The newspaper said the book "The Story of Peter Townsend," was written by journalist Norman Barrymaine and is to be published soon by Peter Davies, Ltd. It tells the intimate story of their headline romance. The People said Townsend met the princess at Clarence House 10 weeks ago and showed her extracts from the book to assure her it was "in the best possible taste." But The People said the princess told him bluntly the book should be withdrawn. When it was not withdrawn the princess decided to end the close friendship that followed their romance, The People said.

Republicans Term Demo Act 'Politics'

Report Hits At Ike, Ex-Defense Agency Head Charles Wilson

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic-controlled House committee said today the United States lost several years in missile research because of money cuts by the Eisenhower administration. Republicans on the Government Operations Committee in turn accused the Democratic majority of carelessly playing politics with national defense and spending public funds for an investigation promoting what they called Democratic political propaganda.

The GOP members said the Democrats hit right at President Eisenhower and his former secretary of defense, Charles E. Wilson.

Began Last Fall

The conflicting views were in a report on an inquiry into Defense Department research and development efforts. The inquiry was begun after the Soviet Union beat the United States in launching the first earth satellite last fall.

The report's 22 recommendations generally called for cutting down on red tape it said was holding up research projects, a steady course instead of stop-and-go efforts, pushing competitive endeavors at early stages rather than banking on a single line of research, use by Secretary of Defense McElroy of wider powers under the new reorganization law to streamline research efforts, and a study to be made by nongovernment management consultants. Total U.S. research and development was figured at 10 billion dollars in 1957.

Actual Spending Dips

Despite a 24 per cent rise in costs of research for new weapons between 1953 — when Eisenhower took over and installed Wilson — and 1958, the majority report said actual spending for research and development went down in terms of 1947-49 dollars.

It said the total was down 30 per cent from 1952 to 1955 and down 22.7 per cent from 1952 to 1958.

These cuts occurred during a period "when responsible officials knew we needed it most," the report said. The missile program was listed as cut back 32.7 per cent from 1953 to 1955. Although by 1958 missile research was back to 34 per cent above the 1952 rate, the Democrats said, "several years had been lost catching up with the program the new administration had cut so drastically for fiscal years 1954, 1955 and 1956."

Rubber Cushion Blamed By Pair In Auto Mishap

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — West Virginia State Police today set down a new cause for a highway accident during the weekend.

They said a Florida couple told how their light foam rubber cushion on the front seat blew up against the windshield, obstructing the vision of Mrs. William Harper, who was driving. She lost control of the vehicle, which crashed into a utility pole south of here.

Property damage was estimated at $800. Harper and his wife, of New Smyrna Beach, Fla., were treated for injuries.

Shelter Plea Renewed H-Bomb Report Shows Shocking Toll Of Lives

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee released a hitherto secret study today estimating that most of us — nearly 160 million persons — would be killed in an H-bomb raid now on 150 American cities.

This startling figure was contained in a study of probable effects of a nuclear attack prepared by the Rand Corporation, a research concern that does top-secret research for the Air Force.

The House military operations subcommittee, in releasing the study, said it was made by the Rand Corporation on its own and not with government money. The subcommittee, which long has urged a 20-billion-dollar nu-

King Hussein Tags Nasser As Red Agent

Charges Egyptian Allegedly Set Off Revolt In Lebanon

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — King Hussein of Jordan has denounced Gamal Abdel Nasser as a Kremlin agent who allegedly ignited the Lebanese rebellion and is conspiring against Hussein's regime.

The young monarch made the charges in a radio address to his countrymen on the sixth anniversary of his accession to the throne. As he spoke, Jordan's police accused the Syrian secret service and Lebanese rebels of having smuggled explosives into Amman aboard a United Nations plane in an attempt to launch a terror campaign against Jordan's independence.

The explosives, it was charged, were to have been used to blow up offices of the Jordanian Development Board. The plot was discovered earlier this month following the arrest of a Theodore Stephan, 23, a Lebanese, and his fiancée, Nadia Salti, 20, a Jordanian, police said.

Hussein called Nasser "an impostor who made Moscow his Kaaba (Moslem shrine in Mecca) from which he was receiving orders." Egypt's rulers, he charged, had imposed a dictatorship and led the nation to Communist imperialism.

Fund Raiser Laws Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee wants laws to protect the public from what it termed unscrupulous professional fund raisers who have collected donations in the name of some veterans groups.

In a report charging that the public has been fleeced in some fund drives, the House Veterans Committee said: "It is doubtful that the American public would be as liberal in support of some fund-raising programs of veterans' organizations if they knew that such a small percentage of the contributions were used for charitable purposes."

Of these, the committee particularly criticized two—the Disabled American Veterans, a chartered group, and the now defunct National Assn. of Veterans Employment Councils, which was unchartered.

Refuses Aid, Woman Dies Of Snakebite

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI) — A Virginia woman who insisted her faith would heal a rattlesnake bite suffered during a snake-handling religious meeting near here died Sunday after steadfastly refusing medical treatment.

Mrs. Huffer Payne, of Narrows, Va., died about eight hours after the large rattlesnake sank its fangs into her arm at the ceremony at nearby Mead Saturday night.

She was taken to the home of a member of the "Jesus Only Church" where she, her son and her daughter repeatedly refused to let a doctor treat the bite. Mrs. Payne's husband, who came to Mead from Narrows after being notified of the incident, said he would abide by his wife's wishes in the matter.

Another member of the congregation told authorities that Mrs. Payne arrived late for the services and immediately went to the front of the church where a number of rattlers had been released. The woman picked up one of the largest reptiles and "fondled it like a kitten," the eye witness said. The snake struck at her as she turned to hand it to a man.

Girl, 10, Returns $150 Lost During Swim In Florida

NUTLEY, N. J. (UPI) — A 10-year-old girl who found $150 while swimming has returned the ocean treasure to a man in Akron, Ohio.

Young Margaret Smith was vacationing with her family in St. Petersburg, Fla., this summer. One day, paddling in the surf, she pulled a $50 and a $100 bill from the water.

The Smith family returned to their home here this month and received a newspaper clipping from relatives in Florida. It said William Asberry of Akron had lost $600 through a hole in his bathing trunks while swimming in Florida.

Margaret promptly sent back the money she found. Asberry remarked, "It's nice to know there are honest little girls like Margaret."

Adjournment Drive Begins In Congress

Heavy Backlog Seen Sending Session Into First Of Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — An adjournment-minded Congress begins tackling a heavy backlog of legislation today in an effort to close shop by the weekend.

But it was a big question whether the legislators could complete their work without going into next week.

No Target Date Set

Neither Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) nor House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) has set a public target date for adjournment of the 85th Congress. Nevertheless, several other legislators, especially those facing tough re-election fights in November, have expressed strong hope the session can be ended Friday or Saturday.

With the House finished with most of its major bills, the adjournment drive focused on the Senate—which has been alerted to expect overtime sessions this week in an all-out attempt to wind up in the next few days.

Bills Await Action

The chief bills still awaiting a Senate vote are a measure to increase Social Security benefits, the $3,518,000,000 foreign aid appropriation bill and federal aid to education legislation. All three have passed the House.

A renewed attempt also is expected to get House action on an omnibus farm bill Republicans and big city Democrats joined last week in defeating a third House attempt at passing a major farm bill.

There also was mounting speculation that the House might act on a Senate-passed bill designed to give the government a stronger hand in regulating labor unions and to give rank and file members a bigger voice in union affairs.

He told his friend he had a similar accident recently while practicing the fast draw back in Maryland. That time he shot himself in the foot.

Berserk Man Nabbed After Killing One, Wounding Two

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A "quiet and polite" 60-year-old maintenance man went berserk Sunday, shot and killed one person and critically wounded two more, including a policeman, before he was felled in a running gun battle with police.

Police said Robert Thompson started shooting after he was surprised allegedly molesting a three-year-old girl in the West Philadelphia rooming house where he lived.

The dead man was identified as Fred Boyd, a roomer in the home of Mrs. Gwendolyn Meekins, 53, when he attempted to reload. The inspector said Holland took the revolver from Thompson along with a knife he discovered in his belt.

One Misses Wait Order; 40 Injured

Three Crewmen Of Erie Line Dead In New York Crash

SLOATSBURG, N.Y. (UPI) — Two Erie Railroad passenger trains collided head-on today at a blind curve near an abandoned depot just south of this Rockland County community, about 40 miles from New York.

State police said five persons were killed and about 40 injured, 12 seriously.

Three of the dead were believed to be passengers and the others trainmen.

One of the dead, a woman, was trapped in the wreckage more than two hours after the trains telescoped near the unused Sterling, N.Y., station, between Suffern and Sloatsburg. She was identified tentatively as Mrs. Pauline Cronin of Tuxedo, N.Y.

State police quoted a baggage man on the westbound train as saying, "We were only going about 20 miles an hour — slow enough so I could have jumped off anytime without getting hurt."

The eastbound train, police said was traveling at about 50 miles an hour, "according to the best information available."

Falls To Stop

A spokesman for the Erie Railroad said the accident occurred when a westbound train, headed for Port Jervis, N.Y., failed to stop at Suffern Station to permit the eastbound train, bound for Hoboken, N.J., to pass on the west-bound track.

According to the spokesman, the westbound train was supposed to stop at Suffern, about five miles south, to permit the eastbound train to use the westbound track because a freight train was running on the eastbound track. The eastbound train, in turn, was to cross over to its regular track at a point about a mile and a quarter west of Suffern, permitting the westbound train to resume its run.

Somehow, however, the westbound train failed to receive its instructions from the Suffern tower and barreled through without stopping.

Man Failure

"It appears to have been a case of man failure," an Erie spokesman said.

Because of the site — at a blind curve — neither train was visible to the other until practically the moment of impact.

All of the dead were aboard the eastbound train, according to state police. They were the engineer, the woman passenger and a man passenger in the first car and a conductor in the last car. The fifth victim, a man passenger, was thrown clear to the track. He was killed instantly.

Freight Runs Wild, Derails

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — A 14-car freight train ran wild for 30 miles before hitting a curve and derailling at the Delaware Water Gap near here. No injuries were reported.

Eleven of the un-manned Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad cars plunged down a 30 foot embankment. Eight slipped into the Delaware River, three were marooned on the bank, and three stayed on the tracks.

About 800 feet of track and overhead wires were torn down in the derailment.

A railroad spokesman said the cars broke loose during a switch operation at Port Morris, New Jersey, and began the long downhill run on the railroad's main line tracks. The runaway cars attained speeds of 80 miles an hour and finally crashed on a curve on the Pennsylvania side of the river.

Thompson was reported in critical condition at the Presbyterian Hospital where he was treated for wounds of the leg and chest. The policeman, John Wilson, 24, who despite being shot in the back, took part in the running battle with Thompson before keeling over from loss of blood, was reported in "critical" condition at the PGH with a bullet lodged in his left lung. Some 20 shots were fired before Wilson collapsed. Holland moved Fred Boyd, a roomer in the home of Mrs. Gwendolyn Meekins, 53, when he attempted to reload. The inspector said Holland took the revolver from Thompson along with a knife he discovered in his belt.

Grand Jury Opens Probe Of Gambling

Broken Terre Haute Ring Exposed Last November By FBI

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A federal grand jury investigation of a broken Terre Haute, Ind., gambling syndicate begins today.

Before the probe is over, more than 160 big-time bookies and bettors from all over the nation will be asked what they know about a betting ring said to have grossed $1/2 million dollars in wagers before federal agents cracked it in a raid last Nov. 29.

Six Men Targets

Targets in the investigation are six men arrested in the raid—former Marion County (Indianapolis) Sheriff Charles L. (Buck) Sumner and Joseph Jacobson of Indianapolis; Leo Shaffer and Julius Horwick of Chicago; and Philip Share and Irwin Gordon of Las Vegas.

The six have not yet been brought to trial on misdemeanor charges of failure to buy $50 federal gambling stamps, but U.S. Atty. Don A. Tabbert wants them indicted on charges of evading excise taxes, an offense which could carry a prison term upon conviction.

Well-Known Witnesses

Tabbert said he also will seek indictments against two other men believed connected with the syndicate—Jim Tamer of Miami and E. M. Wyatt, part owner of a Terre Haute tavern.

Witnesses subpoenaed in the case include retired comedian Zeppo Marx, Texas oil millionaire H. L. Hunt, bridge playing expert Tobias Stone and Dr. H. B. Kean, New York physician.

FTC Drops Ad Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has tentatively dropped false advertising charges against six large companies selling health and accident insurance.

FTC hearing examiner Loren H. Laughlin Sunday issued initial orders to dismiss the charges for lack of jurisdiction. He acted under a U.S. Supreme Court ruling last June 30 which held that the FTC is prohibited by the McCarran-Ferguson Act from regulating the practices of insurance companies within states having regulatory statutes of their own.

The six firms involved are United Insurance Co. and Washington National Insurance Co., both of Evanston, Ill.; Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., Boston, Mass.; Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Co., Chicago; American Casualty Co., Reading, Pa.; and Mutual Life Insurance Co., New York City.

Russians Open Largest Hydro-Electric Station

KUIBYSHEV, U. S. S. R. (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev hailed as a "great victory" Sunday the construction of the world's largest hydro-electric power station by the Soviets in one-third the time taken by Americans to build the Grand Coulee Dam.

Khrushchev spoke at ceremonies opening the Kuibyshev Dam on the Volga River 500 miles east of Moscow. He referred only briefly to the situation in the Middle East where he said the threat of war is "still very acute."

The Soviet premier taunted the United States for the length of time it took to build Grand Coulee in the state of Washington. He said it took 20 years to build Grand Coulee — "the most famous American station" — while the Kuibyshev station took only seven years.

He said the speedy construction of the Kuibyshev Dam — which measures almost 3½ miles across and backs up a 2,502 square mile artificial lake — was a "great victory" for Soviet technicians, scientists and workers.

But, he added, future dams would have to be built even faster to enable "our industry to develop quicker, so that our industry may produce many valuable consumer goods."

(In Washington, Federal Reclamation Commissioner W. A. Drexler said "any time we are given a full program and the money we can build dams just as fast or faster than they can." Drexler said it took only seven years to complete the original Grand Coulee program laid out by the Reclamation Bureau.

(He said "the rest went in as needed, and we didn't anticipate that much power would be needed at first.")

Khrushchev said the dam put Russia in "first place in Europe and second in the world" in electric power production.

A decree of the Supreme Soviet announced the new power station would be known as the "Vladimir Ilyich Lenin" station.

U. N. Group Rejects Test Ban Demand

Scientists Assert Radioactivity Gains Could Injure Health

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — A 15-nation U.N. scientific committee says even a slow, slight increase in world radioactivity from nuclear weapon tests and other sources endangers mankind's future health.

While approving a report to this effect, the committee nevertheless rejected by a big majority a Soviet demand that it call for an immediate end to nuclear test explosions.

The report was released Sunday by the United Nations Scientific Committee on the Effects of Atomic Radiation. More than two years of study went into preparation of the 228-page document.

The committee members unanimously agreed that even the smallest amounts of radiation are liable to cause harmful genetic and perhaps other effects such as cancer, leukemia and shortening of life.

They agreed too that "even a slow rise in the environmental radioactivity in the world, whether from weapon tests or any other sources, might eventually cause appreciable damage to large populations before it could be definitely identified as due to radiation."

Unanimous too was the conclusion that present attempts to evaluate radiation effects on man can produce only tentative estimates with wide margins of uncertainty.

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said the U.N. report "generally confirms the statements in the June 1956 report of the U.S. National Academy of Sciences with respect to the possible hazards" from radiation.

"It is important to note that, insofar as leukemia and bone cancer are concerned, the committee has pointed out there is no certainty that fallout will produce any additional cases of either disease," the AEC statement said. "The majority of the committee took the view that the problem of controlling or curbing nuclear tests and other sources of radiation lies outside the group's scope."

Reducing Aids Claim Slapped By House Unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House investigators reported Sunday night overweight Americans are being bilked of 100 million dollars annually by using alleged reducing preparations which do not actually trim off any fat.

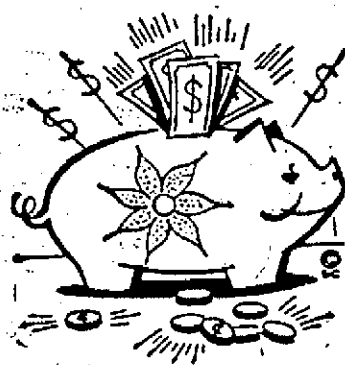

They said manufacturers of a variety of candy wafers, reducing machines and drugs push products by telling fat people they can lose weight and still eat all they want.

A House government operations subcommittee quoted a series of experts as saying the chief way to shed pounds is to eat less. There is nothing, it said, like "pushing yourself away from the table."

The subcommittee accused the Federal Trade Commission of failing — until recently — to carry out its legal duties to protect the public against "the evils of false and misleading advertising of alleged weight-reducing preparations."

Daredevil Gem Thieves Rob Tiffany's

NEW YORK (UPI) — A team of daredevil thieves smashed open two display windows at swank Tiffany's on Fifth Avenue and lifted out jewels valued at $171,500 Sunday in one of the city's most brazen daylight burglaries.

A foot patrolman assigned to the area had just been withdrawn to help guard Russian foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Ike To Meet With Dulles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower was expected to meet with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sometime today to work on proposals to be presented to the United Nations meeting on the Middle East crisis.

Dulles was not on the advance list of presidential appointments. But it was known the secretary and his chief still had to get the American proposals in final form before Dulles' expected departure for New York City Tuesday afternoon.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower returned to the White House late Sunday after spending a week end at their Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Coupling deftness with precision timing, the thieves capitalized on the patrolman's absence to sledgehammer open holes in the shatter-proof windows and then extract four display items.

Stolen were two platinum and diamond necklaces, each valued at $88,750; a sapphire and diamond pin worth $18,000, and a diamond and platinum ring valued at $16,000. Ignored by the thieves were two pins, set with diamonds and sapphires, valued at $9,000 each.

All of the stolen items were insured. Although Tiffany's is equipped with an elaborate alarm system, the windows are not protected, since they were considered impenetrable.

Heavy oak paneling and draperies back of the windows were believed sufficient to muffle the sound the pounding of the sledgehammers made. This was believed to account for the fact the two guards inside the building said they heard no noise.

Candidates Attack State Indifference

Beall, D'Alesandro Make Pitch Toward Needy In State

By The Associated Press

This may be difficult to believe, but both of Maryland's candidates for U. S. Senate see eye-to-eye on something: there is too much indifference toward the needy of the state.

But the world of politics hasn't turned upside-down. There is one slight difference in the opinions.

U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall, Republican nominee, thinks Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore is indifferent. Mayor D'Alesandro, Democratic nominee, thinks Sen. Beall is indifferent.

The two opponents made that pitch during the weekend.

The mayor said Sen. Beall showed "indifference, if not actual hostility, to the needs of the poor and helpless people of Maryland."

The senator said Mayor D'Alesandro showed "indifference to the needs of the poor and helpless people of Maryland."

Sen. Beall's headquarters in Baltimore also announced that a "Truth Squad for Beall" has been formed to "refute the untrue and demagogic statements" of D'Alesandro.

Heading this squad is Baltimore attorney Hyman A. Pressman, a frequent critic of the D'Alesandro city administration.

Beall's headquarters said controller J. Millard Tawes, Democratic nominee for governor on the same ticket with D'Alesandro, had planned to use Pressman's services in the same capacity when Tawes and D'Alesandro were running for the gubernatorial nomination.

"This plan was changed, however," it said, "after Mr. D'Alesandro's deal-inspired switch from the gubernatorial race to the campaign for U. S. senator, a post he had said he did not want."

The weekend also brought a statement from D'Alesandro that Maryland's congressional delegation should vote this week for legislation to provide immediate relief for depressed areas.

Elsewhere, Rep. James P. S. Devereaux suggested caution in appraising the needs for expanding and improving facilities of Maryland's mental hospitals and prisons.

Said the Republican nominee for governor, in a statement:

"We must avoid the crippling fiscal binge—the short-term spree of spending that could leave us the helpless prey to another era of long range obsolescence."

"Above all, we must bear in mind that the state's power to borrow money provides no unlimited mine of free wealth — that there is a limit in the issuing of bonds beyond which even the state cannot go with fiscal safety."

Israel Attitude Reckoning Factor

By ELIAV SIMON

United Press International

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) —

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion recently told local leaders that not since World War II when German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was knocking at the gates of Egypt has the Middle East been in such potential danger.

The Middle East is bound to be the main point on the agenda of any international talks, though in the local view the present time is most inopportune and circumstances are extremely unfavorable to the West.

However, Israel need not necessarily suffer as a consequence, one source pointed out.

Wants Representation

When Ben-Gurion told the Knesset (parliament) the week before last that any decisions taken at summit talks involving Israel without her presence would not be binding on her, he was serving warning on both East and West that if driven into a corner, Israel in desperation is a factor to be reckoned with.

At the proposed summit conference, the Soviets were expected to harp on so-called Western aggression in the Middle East. The West would review factors behind the current unrest in the region. The Russians would not reject discussion of this subject since their position is strong, one source said.

"All they want ostensibly is for the Arabs to be left alone with their new friends," he added.

The summit is now off but the Middle East position remains the same.

Although the Arab-Israel dispute is not the main pivot of the Middle East today, its implications cannot be avoided. This confronts Israel with the following four dangers:

To Satisfy Arabs

—First, Khrushchev wants Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru in on any solution, and it is likely that both will try to satisfy the Arabs at Israel's expense concerning the return of Palestine Arab refugees and territorial changes.

—Second, Britain, which will make no concession in Kuwait or elsewhere on the Arabian peninsula, will not only not oppose measures against Israel's interests but may even take the lead in proposing them.

—Third, in order not to aggravate conditions in the Middle East, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will not oppose anti-East. (Continued on Page 14)

Plane Hits Hen House, Pilot Saved

DENTON, Md. (AP) — A light plane crashed into James V. Fretter's chicken house and burst into flames. The fire destroyed the frame building and 5,000 week-old chicks, but Fretter rescued the pilot.

Fretter suffered burns of the side, face and arms when he pulled the unconscious pilot, James McIntyre of Denton, from the burning plane Saturday. McIntyre was admitted to Eastern Memorial Hospital with head and leg injuries and minor burns.

The farm is located on U. S. 404, just across the Delaware line near the small community of Firetower. Firemen from Denton and Federalsburg, Md., and Bridgeville, Del. were unable to save the building or the chicks.

KAMPALA, Uganda (UPI) — A Kampala policeman won a promotion for bringing to heel a thief who jumped into the Nile and started swimming away.

Two other policemen jumped in after the thief, but the third cop just stood at the water's edge and shouted: "Look out! Crocodile!"

The frightened thief scampered out of the water into the arms of the policeman.

Tokyo Population May Hit 14,300,000 In 17 Years

By RONALD P. KRISS

United Press International

TOKYO (UPI) — Two Japanese

planning experts said today Tokyo's population will mushroom to 14,300,000 persons by 1975.

They described a scheme to re-settle 2,700,000 residents in satellite towns 15 to 60 miles beyond the center of Tokyo, but this would still leave the Japanese capital with 11,600,000 inhabitants.

The planners, Prof. Eiichi Isomura of Tokyo Metropolitan University, and Yutaka Okumura, an official of the National Capital Region Redevelopment Commission, described the city's plight in a report submitted to a United Nations seminar on regional planning here.

Isomura and Okumura pointed out that at the end of World War II Greater Tokyo had only 2,500,000 residents. They estimated that in the space of 30 years—by 1975—the city will have absorbed a dizzying 11,800,000 new inhabitants.

The planners said Tokyo may be saved from chaos by the national capital redevelopment plan, chartered by a commission that was established two years ago in the prime minister's office.

The plan calls for more apartment houses and multi-storied office buildings to open up space in sprawling, horizontal Tokyo, a green belt of farmlands and parks to serve as a haven outside Tokyo, and beyond that, a series of independent industrial towns.

The plan establishes a capital region extending for 60 miles from Tokyo Station. By way of comparison Greater London stretches 30 miles from Charing Cross.

We Have Books

A HIGH SCHOOL Parent-Teacher Association board in a city which shall here be nameless was considering how to make the best use of funds unexpended at the end of the school year. Various money-raising efforts had been more successful than usual, and the treasury surplus was substantial. A number of proposals were made. One member—of—the board—thought—the money should go into the fund for new hand uniforms. Another suggested giving the football team an appreciation banquet. It was also noted that a handsome new athletic trophy case would be a fine gift to the school.

THEN ONE BOARD member dropped a blue note into this harmonious palaver. He said that he had been browsing in the school library and had noted some weaknesses. Why not, he proposed, buy some books to fill in the gaps? There was rather a long silence. No one seconded this radical idea. At length one voice was raised—but in opposition: "We don't need more books; the school board provides a library fund." The voice was the voice of authority. The authority rested on the fact that the speaker was the school's principal. His view prevailed.

THIS LITTLE story is not told to imply that Parent-Teacher groups are all so insensitive to the real educational needs, or that principals all favor trophy cases over bookcases. It is told to illustrate the point that those in a community who should be the most ardent champions of good education sometimes display little understanding of what is needed to make such education a reality. There is a moral to the story. It is that persons genuinely concerned about the intellectual climate in the public schools must take it upon themselves to work hard for improvement. They cannot sit back and expect the job to be done for them.

Sweet Corn Time

AMERICA HAS become quite sophisticated about its food. The continental touch is no longer to be found only in a few scattered restaurants. Cookbooks that describe exotic dishes have been popular. Many a housewife has had notable success with recipes that might have evoked a snort of disapproval in Grandma's day. There's nothing wrong with them. The sky's the limit when it comes to the pleasures of the table! But we rise to say that no one has really known the joy of eating until he has sunk tooth into an ear of sweet corn served with proper regard for its inimitable qualities. No herbs and rare condiments, please. Corn, simply, fresh-plucked, boiled not a moment too long, slathered with butter and delicately salted. Ah-h-h-h!

Look At The Moon

THE AIR FORCE keeps dropping hints that it is going to send a rocket to the moon this month. Maybe it will do that—if not this month, then before long. Maybe someone else, possibly even someone who uses the Russian word for moon, will beat the Air Force to it. In any case, man may soon make contact with the moon. Only a few years ago, such a statement would have encountered derision or outright unbelief. Now the idea of sending a rocket some 240,000 miles to the moon is widely accepted as a probability, almost a certainty. Yet though it has become a commonplace in the public mind, the notion of man's reaching out to the moon is exciting and challenging. It has its melancholy aspects, too. Once contact has been made, old Luna will never again be the same. Not that anything man does, at least in the initial stages of space flight, is apt to change the moon's appearance to the earthbound. All the same, men will see it differently because they will know that it has been touched by human kind. So look at the moon, these summer nights, with special regard for its cool, serene loveliness. There she sails, the goddess of the night, hutchless in the vast fields of the skies. Ours will be the last generation to see her, inviolate, as countless generations of men before us have done.

BEING DONE in by gunfire was so common in the old West, judging by TV, that coroners must have attributed all such deaths to natural causes.

Power Of GOP Right Wing Is Declining

WASHINGTON—The fight for liberal trade policies has been won in a rare display of bipartisan cooperation. Its most interesting political aspect is that for the first time Republicans in both houses of Congress gave the reciprocal trade principle their majority support and Democrats did not. This is further evidence that the influence of the extreme right wing of the GOP is declining. Many of its members have announced their retirement from Congress at the close of the present session, an implicit admission that their struggle for control of party policy is a losing one.

THE TRADE agreement vote is explicit and a spectacular reversal of the attitude taken by the party when the first trade bill came to Congress from the hands and brain of the late Cordell Hull, the first New Deal Secretary of State. The new extension is for four years. The prospect, therefore, is that the next battles on the issue will come when the party platforms are shaped in 1960. Republicans will be obliged at their convention to remember that majorities of their Senators and Representatives stand recorded in favor of reciprocal trade.

DEMOCRATS must face the fact that their Congressional majorities said "no" on the key votes. Yet the Democratic leaders stood fast and saved the bill from its foes within their party, though both had to turn their backs chiefly on fellow-Southerners to achieve it.

For this reason, a special luster attaches to Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson. Both are bound to play an important role in a convention argument over the reciprocal trade plan.

REPUBLICANS who won party majorities for the bill got their most effective leadership from President Eisenhower, C. Douglas Dillon, Deputy Under Secretary of State for Economic Affairs, and Henry Kearns, Assistant Secretary of Commerce.

The President withstood pressures from within the party which were heavily and consistently applied in the full knowledge that his is ordinarily a conciliatory temper. The day-to-day burden fell upon Dillon and Kearns, and observers unhesitatingly pronounced them both magnificent and generous fighters. Kearns was the indefatigable bird dog, they said, while Dillon came in at critical moments with the Sunday punch.

IN THIS fretful era, attempts to seize political advantage in what are touted as bipartisan areas are the rule. The trade bill is apparently a refreshing exception.

The new bill still contains much that real free traders deplore as dangerously restrictive, some of it the work of Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks and some of it wrought by Democratic legislative hands. These restrictions make both the President and Congress vulnerable to pressure from special interests, a tactic that never makes for orderly government, no matter what the special interests are.

AMONG those credited outside of the government with effective work for the new measure are the lobby which did missionary work among business people and Nikita B. Khrushchev of Moscow, whose Soviet economic offensive persuaded some members of Congress that something more had to be done to compete with him. (United Features Syndicate)

Russians Woo Mid-East With Loans

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Soviet Russia, its European satellites and Red China have poured a minimum of 850 million dollars worth of economic and military aid into Egypt, Syria and Yemen in the last three years.

This reveals better than anything else the Russian interest in taking President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic into the antiwestern camp.

This Russian economic warfare in the Middle East accounts for nearly half of the 1.9 billion dollars worth of aid which Communist bloc countries have distributed to 15 underdeveloped countries from Jan. 1, 1954 to June 30, 1958. These are Department of State Division of Economics Affairs figures.

There was one Russian Red Cross grant of 2.8 million dollars worth of medical supplies to Egypt after the Suez Canal war. Outside of that, nearly all of the Russian aid has been in 10-to-12-year loans at two to three per cent interest.

So the Communists expect to get their money back quick, in more ways than one.

JUST AS important to the Communist bloc as its loans are the technicians it sends to these countries. Those known to have been assigned on a contract basis for one month or more in the last two and a half years number 810—to Egypt 410, Syria 240 and Yemen 160.

Trade promotion delegations and special missions are not included in these totals—only technicians on non-military projects. There is no exact count on military missions. Estimates put the number of persons at a minimum of 800—probably 1,000 or more.

THE SOVIET economic offensive in the Middle East began in 1954 when Egypt had trouble selling its cotton and buying petroleum products. A barrier deal was rigged up exchanging Egyptian cotton for Romanian oil.

The next year the Egyptians traded more cotton for Czechoslovakian arms—and the Communists were in business.

In 1957, Russia gave Egypt 36 million dollars in loans for industrialization. A second credit of 178 million dollars was set up last January. It covers smelters, steel plants, shipyards, textile mills and many light industries.

Egypt's trade with Communist countries before 1955 was only 10 per cent of its total. Last year Egypt shipped these countries 46 per cent of her exports—mostly cotton—and took 26 per cent of her imports from these countries.

TOTAL Communist aid to Egypt since 1955 is put at over half a billion dollars. It is divided 255 million in economic and 250 million in military aid.

Russia itself has advanced only 175 million of this. Its European satellites have furnished 325 million and Communist China a token five million.

Communist economic penetration of Syria has practically all come since the Suez Canal crisis in late 1956.

Two deals for 100 million dollars worth of military aid were signed that year. Two credits for 194 million dollars worth of economic assistance were advanced by Russia in 1957.

They cover an oil refinery, cement plant, dams, power stations, irrigation systems, grain elevators, airports, railways, bridges and mineral exploration —19 projects in all.

OF THE total Syrian aid, 223 million dollars came from the U.S.S.R. and 71 million from European satellites.

When the Russians made these agreements, they were in line to take over Syria and make it a full-fledged Communist satellite.

This move was temporarily checked by Syria's merger with Egypt in the U.A.R. President Nasser assumed responsibility for all these agreements. Some of them may be cut down.

Syria's trade with Communist countries—negligible in 1956—rose to 21 per cent of its exports last year.

Yemen likewise had practically no ties with the Soviet in 1955. It is now deeply involved with the Communist bloc. Total Communist credits to Yemen are put at 50 million dollars.

Yemeni coffee, dried fruits and hides are now being traded with Communist countries for machinery and textiles.

Most interesting aspect of Communist economic warfare is Red China's credit of 21 million dollars to Yemen for highway con-

NEW YORK—Although no commercial enterprise ever can equal in largesse the mounds of goodies distributed by David O. Selznick when he was ready to launch "Duel in the Sun," it seems to me as an old-time and long ago user of commercial aviation that the air lines are running him a close and panting second. It has got so a man scarcely can hustle his raincoat and briefcase aboard an airliner before someone thrusts a bottle of champagne into his hands and asks him what type of hors d'oeuvres he likes best.

JUST THE other night, on TV, a Southern woman who seems to be the undisputed Bible knowledge champion of the United States appeared to pick up her airplane tickets for an international Bible quiz show in the Holy Land and they were handed to her in a soft leather, reusable, hand-blocked case of obvious attractiveness and value.

Most of us get our tickets in paper envelopes, but a few lines around the world are delivering them to the passengers in fancy cases. And, for years, each line has vied with all others in the attractiveness, shape, color and charm of free overnight cases.

I ONCE flew to London, planning an extension all the way to Athens, and between the two airlines involved, I was weighted down with ball-point pens, traveling cases, leather-bound guide books to London and Athens, shaving kits and all manner of small trophies, all without fee.

There is no shrill quarrel with any airline that wants to gift its passengers with objects of any kind, but I fear that they all are running themselves into a race for who can donate the most valuable items. Before you know it, you will spend $400 for a ticket and get back $365 in largesse.

BACK THERE when transcontinental air travel was a rugged jaunt, and easy, casual transatlantic flight was only a dream on the drawing boards (except for Alcock and Brown, Lindbergh, Byrd and a few like that), you got a bucket seat in an unpressurized plane and your largesse, if any was a three-month-old copy of The Literary Digest or a dog-eared out-dated copy of Readers Digest.

You flew from Newark to Fort Worth, on one particular line, got off in the evening, hastened down a dog-wagon supper of tough steak in the airport, and then got aboard a biplane in the night and your berth either was a hanging shelf three feet off the floor or you had the lower, which was a mattress on the floor of the plane.

DURING THE night the sleeper, as it was called, made several stops between Fort Worth and Los Angeles and the yawing over the desert floor was not calculated to soothe one into a deep sleep.

They gave you a small paper cup of orange juice, a mug of coffee and, sometimes, an overnight-staled breakfast bun as you woke in California sunshine. One morning the breakfast fare was half a cup of orange juice and a chocolate-coated muffin. Which was not then and is not now my notion of an ideal breakfast. The flight time was around 18 hours or maybe it was seventeen.

NOW YOU HAVE a choice of several de luxe airlines which will whisk you to California above the storms and the strife in about eight hours, will ply you with guinea hen and wild rice, cock-tails and other delicacies and bring you everything you want to read but the Encyclopedia Britannica. That weighs too much.

On flights to Europe you get pens, overnight cases, champagne, dictating machines, piped music, fancy reading matter and meals that must have come from First Table at Le Pyramide or the Tours d'Argent. Pheasant, wild rice, wild strawberries in clotted cream, all manner of table prizes. The flight to personalize and make valuable the envelopes in which tickets are delivered is fierce. It has to be only a short time before you get a morocco leather envelope, passport size, with 14-kt. gold corners and your name in at least rubies or emeralds.

ALL OF WHICH is dandy and makes you feel important, but I have the odd feeling that if they gave you less and applied less psychology designed to make you feel royal, the cost of tickets might be considerably less. Because, don't fool yourself, the cost of these items comes right out of the price of the tickets, which you pay.

You aren't exactly getting anything for free. I'd just as soon sleep on a rubber mattress on the floor of a plane and pay $135 than drink champagne and pay $389.

It makes the champagne somewhat dearer than it was in Prohibition days.

Fighter Can't Beat Horse

WASHINGTON—Embril Davidson, Negro prizefighter out of Detroit, thought he was better, just a little bit better, than a horse. It took him two years to learn how wrong he was.

Embril's a janitor now in Youngstown, Ohio. On the side he plays the xylophone in a dance band, and in general he finds life more satisfactory than he did a few years back when he was a heavyweight contender on the payroll (as it developed) of the pension fund of the Teamsters Union.

HE WAS a ham-and-egger in 1932, getting his head beaten in for $150 when he took on as manager Bert Brennan, the horse fancier, union leader, and currently international vice-president of the Teamsters. Jimmy Hoffa, the president of the union, had testified that he owned a piece of Embril, but the latter told the Senate rackets committee he thought his only boss was Brennan.

Whenever he went into the ring, Embril said, he split the purse 50-50 with Brennan, but fights were few and he got to worrying about how he'd eat between performances.

"I ASKED Mr. Brennan for a job so I could live when there wasn't any fights," he told the Senators. "He said, how much did I need? I guess I exaggerated a little; I said I needed $100. He said he'd give me $75.

"So every week I'd go down to the pension fund place in the basement of the union and get my check."

He never did any work for the union or the pension fund, either, but he did cut the grass at Brennan's country place and help with the boss's string of trotting horses, Embril said.

HE ADDED that he won 40 fights and lost six; the trouble was that the six he lost were to heavyweights a little better than he was. So the biggest purse he ever earned was $650. Mostly he got around $200, fighting at the Motor City Arena in Detroit, and when he gave half of that to Brennan, there wasn't much left. Embril appreciated that extra $75 weekly from the pension fund. After a couple of years of this, Embril continued, he was training for a fight and his sparring partner mistakenly smacked him in the nose and broke it. The doctor said he couldn't go through with the match.

"I TOLD Mr. Brennan about this and he did not like the idea," Embril added earnestly. "He said I could beat this guy without him ever hitting me in the nose. I thought that was impossible. Mr. Brennan said maybe I'd better get another manager."

"I said yes, but I did think I was a little bit better than a horse. And what if one of his horses was hurt training for a race? Would Mr. Brennan make it race anyway? He said I was different from a horse. He said anyway he was tired of being a fight manager."

So Embril went off the pension fund payroll, faded from the fight industry, and took up the janitorial and jazz band business. Senator John L. McClellan said that for talking so frankly he not only was a credit to his race, but to his country.

THE SENATOR added that he calculated the Messrs. Hoffa and Brennan had paid their prize-fighter nearly $8,000 from the union pension fund. He said the least they could do was give the money back.

He also said he'd asked the Justice Department to see whether perjury had been committed, because Hoffa testified a year ago that his prizefight enterprises had cost the union nothing.

Then the Senators called the dapper, slick-haired Brennan for questioning on the subject of man vs. horse. He refused to testify. Said he feared he might tend to incriminate himself.

WASHINGTON—The House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee was giving routine consideration to a private relief bill for 16 Sioux Indians in South Dakota. Rep. Leo W. O'Brien, of New York, who doesn't have a Sioux to his name, was giving the measure only cursory attention. Idly, he read down the list of would-be-relieved redskins.

Rep. O'Brien, as I have reminded you numerous times in the past, is a former newspaperman, and sidekick of mine. He used to cover Albany when Thomas E. Dewey was governor of New York, and James C. Hagerly was Dewey's news secretary. Having had years of Hagerly, O'Brien is trained to imperturbability.

Nevertheless, when his eyes had traveled about half way down the roster of supplicant Indians, the O'Brien optics suddenly bugged out. The list read: "Emma Old-horse . . . Henry Hollar Horn . . . George Bear's Knees"; then . . . "Patrick O'Rourke."

A cry was torn from Rep. O'Brien that bounced his half-somnolent colleagues out of their chairs.

"Somebody," roared O'Brien, "strayed off the reservation!"

He grabbed one prospect and demanded: "Who was that man you were just talking to?"

The question went unanswered, but Van Doren doesn't know whether from churlishness, or ignorance. The man questioned was Allen Dulles, director of our see-all, know-all, Central Intelligence Agency; the man questioned about was Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas who had presided at the session.

McElroy everything he asks for, purposely try to steel themselves every time they hear McElroy is coming to Capitol Hill. The towering ex-soap tycoon is one of the most persuasive gentlemen we've ever had in public life.

He's a hard man to turn down. Some of our most hard-bitten legislators have confided to me they always feel "mean as sin" at not giving the Defense Secretary everything he requests, although their common sense may tell them he is asking too much.

The McElroy persuasiveness works in all directions. A few months ago, Charles C. Finucane resigned as Undersecretary of the Army, declaring he had taken all he could take of Washington, and the Defense Department. Less than two months later he was back in the Pentagon as Assistant Secretary of Defense.

Dr. William M. Holaday, the Pentagon's missile chief, pretended surprise on seeing Finucane again.

"What brought you back?" he asked. "Six-foot-four of charm and personality," replied Finucane, looking embarrassed.

Princeton Man Shoots Wife, Self

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Ray Saunders, 31, Princeton, W. Va., pumped five bullets into his estranged wife and one into his left chest Sunday during a heated argument in a parked car, police said.

A passerby, identified only as Ray Poff, was struck in the left arm by a sixth shot from Saunders' 38-caliber police special.

Mrs. Myrtle Lee Saunders, 46, died instantly, police said. Saunders was taken to a hospital where he died about eight hours later.

Authorities said the argument started while Saunders apparently made an unsuccessful attempt at a reconciliation. They said that after firing the shots at his wife, Saunders reloaded the pistol, got out of the car and fired one shot into his left chest.

PPG Features Local Plant

"People," the monthly magazine of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, features the Cumberland plant in its current issue.

In a five-page feature with pictures of the huge plant, it is described as one of the world's most advanced glass plants which was officially dedicated June 24 in conjunction with an open house.

Although Works Seven has been producing and shipping rough plate glass since 1956 and polished glass since last fall, the article pointed out the purpose of the open house and dedication was to remind the community and the nation that this modern plant now is fully operative and is shipping to PPG customers what the company terms the finest twin-ground polished plate glass in this country.

1959 Auto Production Expected To Increase

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Production of automobiles in 1959 will exceed this year's output by 25 per cent, Steel magazine predicted today.

The metalworking weekly said the industry will make and sell 5,500,000 cars next year compared to 4,400,000 this year. The main reason given for the increase is that fewer cars will be in dealers' hands at the beginning of the year.

The improved auto industry outlook also is spurring the recovery in steel operations. The uptrend was forecast to continue at a moderate rate through the remainder of the third quarter and into the fourth. Steel said it was unlikely that capacity operations would be achieved but that fourth quarter operations will be in the 60 to 70 per cent range.

Last week steelmaking operations held at 59 per cent of capacity with production of about 1,593,000 net tons for ingots and castings. St. Louis led the district rates with 83 per cent of capacity, down 7 points from the previous week.

The trade magazine said steel demand was picking up despite higher prices. While gains were small they were indicative of latent strength in the market. By the end of the month steel consumers are not expected to be living off of stocks and will order as much steel as they consume.

Users are not applauding the higher prices but they were accepting them, said Steel. While consumers regarded the $4.50 a ton hike as moderate they will have a hard time absorbing it. Profits have been steadily eroded since the recession began.

The magazine said another price hike may be on the way because of an increase in iron ore prices at the end of the 1958 season. They were not revised in 1957.

Scrap prices continued a bullish trend last week. Steel's composite on the prime grade of melting scrap rose to $42 a ton, up $2.

Revaluation Of West Virginia Property Underway

By JERRY GOULD

United Press International
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The astronomical task of revaluation of West Virginia's real property is under way. It is estimated that the job will take 10 years.

Edward G. Haislop, the State Tax Department's director of assessment equalization, said mapping of 10 counties was the first step.

"We hope to map the counties in groups of 10 or more depending on the funds available," Haislop said. "It is estimated that a year will be needed for mapping and at least 18 months for appraisal in each county."

The equalization measure went into effect last Feb. 6 and was prompted by the loss of state aid by some counties because their assessments fell below the required percentage.

In order to receive state aid for its schools, a county now must have its property assessed at 45 per cent of its appraised value.

by the state tax commissioner's survey. For the 1959-60 fiscal year, that figure will be increased to 50 per cent.

Used Backlog

Funds for the re-assessment program did not become available until July 1. However, Haislop's group made use of $200,000 in the house concurrent aid backlog and he had letters out to mapping firms inviting bids on the first 10 counties by Feb. 20.

The first $1,500,000 appropriation by the Legislature was for the mapping of Cabell, Putnam, Mason, Greenbrier, Tyler, Marshall, Wetzel, Marion, Mineral and Berkeley counties.

In addition, revision is being made of Wood County maps which had such a program. He formerly served as its assessor before assuming his present post.

Those who do the mapping are required to scale their maps, indicate all present lines, set forth dimensions or areas, indicate if the land is improved and identify the parcels in order that owner-ship may be ascertained by reference to property index records and property owner's index.

The property record cards prepared by the mapping firm must be complete and contain pertinent information on each parcel. The property owner's index consists of

When the mapping is completed, the individual counties are then appraised by professional appraisers. (Continued on Page 14)

Buying Stock On Margin Is 2-Way Move

Lets You Stretch Your Cash, Profit, But Can Be Risky

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Buying stocks on margin has the pleasant advantage of letting you stretch your cash and make a bigger profit — if you're lucky. It also has the unpleasant factor of increasing your risk and adding interest payments to your loans — if you're unlucky.

In other words, to buy stocks partly on the cuff takes strong nerves and more trading skill than cash buying — if you're to escape ulcers.

Let's look at how margin trading works, what it will cost, and when the broker will tap you on the shoulder to put up more money or sell you out.

First, there are some do's and don'ts you have to follow. The Federal Reserve has just said that in any new or expanded buying of stocks or bonds on margin the trader must put up 70 percent in cash or collateral and the broker can lend him only 30 percent of the stock's market price.

Those who already have accounts under the former rule of 50 percent borrowed money may switch stocks without putting up more margin so long as they don't increase the amount of credit involved.

SEC rules require that only stocks listed on a United States stock exchange can be traded on margin. This keeps brokers from handling in this way over-the-counter stocks and those listed only on foreign exchanges.

The New York Stock Exchange says that no margin account can be started for less than $1,000 and that the broker members must charge no less than the call money rate — a call loan, usually for carrying or purchasing stocks, is one that either the borrower or lender can terminate at any time.

Pollster In Russia Has Easy Time

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI) — It's easy to put your finger on the pulse of the public in Moscow. What one man in the street thinks, everyone thinks.

As a result, life is much simpler for journalistic poll-takers in the Soviet Union than it is in the West.

For many years, every time there has been an international crisis, I've dashed out into Broadway, the Rue de la Paix, Piccadilly or St. Peter's Square to record the reaction of the average man.

Frankly, in the West this is a headache job. The Westerner is disputatious and opinionated and apt to take a contrary view simply because he's cussed—or simply because he believes in it. You always wind up with a notebook filled with conflicting views.

Not so in this strong and bustling capital of Russia.

I've spoken to a number of Russians in the past few days about the summit conference and international tension and the results always have been the same.

A Hotel Worker
The first man I talked to was standing in front of the squat mausoleum where thousands queue daily to see Lenin and Stalin eternally lying in state.

He said he learned his English in the hotel where he is employed. As we strolled down wide Gorki Street, with women street cleaners busy on the sidewalks, he suddenly said, "Tell me, why do you want war?"

I said I didn't want war and furthermore I didn't know any American who did.

"But you are ringing us with air bases," he said. "And everybody knows air bases can only be for aggression."

I tried to explain the American attitude to him but he was my first Russian man in the street and so I can be forgiven the waste of time.

Love's San Francisco
My second Moscow pulse interrupted my dinner at the skyscraper Hotel Ukraina, which stocks 71 wines, champagnes, liquors and liquors and serves such delicacies as hazel grouse in sour cream, roast duck stuffed with apples, beef stroganoff and chicken ala Kiev.

He was a Russian at the next table who introduced himself as a wartime merchant mariner who had fallen in love with San Francisco.

"I hope you do not approve of your country's interventionist policy in Lebanon," he said. "Let us drink a toast, 'hands off the Middle East.'"

I solicited a conversation with another Russian at the Prague Restaurant who asked, "Why did your president make such difficult conditions for a summit meeting?" The conversation then followed the eventual course, ending in agreement to disagree.

All Are Friendly
I must say that every Russian I have spoken to was friendly, curious, helpful and at least superficially sincere, and he was no exception.

However, he felt I was ill informed because I obviously didn't get straightforward facts from United States papers as he did from Pravda, Izvestia and Moscow Radio.

By now, my Western notebook would have had a dozen points of view and I'd have had to shuffle them around to get a consensus. No such problem here.

When it comes to serious international matters of high policy nearly all Russians close ranks behind Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

When you've talked to one about politics, you've talked to them all.

Payments Increased In Soil Bank Plan

The basic rate for Maryland's rental payments under the Soil Bank Conservation Reserve program has been increased from $12 to $17 annually.

The payment rates for Maryland counties will be announced later, as will the rates for individual farms, except that no farm rate may exceed 20 percent of the value of the land on the farm.

Man Drowned In Choptank As Boat Sinks

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—A 14-foot outboard motorboat sank in the Choptank River yesterday while its seven occupants searched for a missing oar. One man disappeared in the water and six other persons were rescued.

Missing and presumed drowned was Elmer Wyatt, 45, of Cambridge. His wife, Betty, 34, and their son, Elmer Jr., 12, were rescued along with Gordon Willey, 50, Mrs. Odella Bangert, 48, and Mrs. Juanita Rosetta, 25, all of Cambridge.

Also saved was James Marvin Seward of Cambridge, the owner and operator of the boat. He was held on $200 bail after being charged by State Police with reckless operation of the craft.

Police said the oar was lost when Wyatt stood up in the boat and stuck the oar overboard to measure the depth of the water. Seward began circling the spot and the boat was swamped when water rushed over the stern.

The boat submerged in about 10 feet of water some 500 feet from shore, with all the occupants except Wyatt clinging to the craft.

Wyatt's son was rescued by an unidentified motorist who jumped into the river after seeing the accident from the nearby U. S. 50 bridge. The remainder of the party was picked up by a passing boat.

Mrs. Wyatt and Mrs. Bangert were treated for shock at a hospital and released.

Adventists Call Sunday Closing Unconstitutional

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A spokesman for the Allegheny Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists believes it would be unconstitutional to restrict business and other activity on the Sabbath.

"A Sunday closing ordinance or 'blue law' for city, borough, county or state is nothing more than religious legislation and religious legislation is unconstitutional," said George E. Taylor, Washington, D. C.

He described efforts to pass stricter laws governing Sunday activity in Pennsylvania "impractical, wrong in principle, and based on a narrow and imperfect conception of the Christian religion."

Taylor, secretary of the Religious Liberty Department of the Columbia Union Conference of Adventists, spoke yesterday at the Allegheny Conference's seventh biennial constituency convention in nearby Pine Forge.

Delegates unanimously supported a resolution calling for the separation of church and state. Attending the conference were representatives of all Negro Adventist churches in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

P. D. Beable New Principal At Valley HS

Petry Successor
Headed James Wood
High, Winchester

The new principal at Valley High School in Lonaconing will be Paul D. Beable, 46, of Winchester, Va., according to Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools.

Beable succeeds Jack Petry, who was recently named supervisor of high schools to fill the vacancy created by the death of Lewyn C. Davis.

Beable served as principal of the consolidated James Wood High School at Winchester for the past seven years. He decided to take the position in Lonaconing because of the wider opportunities for professional growth in Maryland schools.

Larger School
James Wood High has 1,300 students and a faculty of 83 teachers and is a larger school than Valley High.

Beable received his bachelor of arts degree in 1934 at Bridgewater (Va.) College and his master's degree in 1947 from George Washington University in Washington. He has 24 years teaching experience and has served as principal of a number of Virginia high schools.

From 1934 to 1939 he was a teacher and later principal at Shenandoah Public School at Stafford (Va.) High from 1939 to 1941. He also served as principal at Gore (Va.) High and Stephens City (Va.) High in the period from 1941 to 1950.

Active In Civic Affairs
In 1950 when the consolidation of four high schools into a single unit at James Wood High was effected, Beable was named principal on the basis of his record as a school administrator.

In Winchester he was active in civic and public affairs. He was a member of the board of directors and a past president of the Frederick County Tuberculosis Association, a past president of the Frederick County (Va.) Teachers Association and the Ruritan Club. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa.

Beable is married and the father of a seven-year-old son. He and his family will reside in Lonaconing if suitable housing can be obtained.

Canal Street Damages Set By Inspectors

Railroad, Times
Termed Only Places
Abutting On Area

The Mayor and Council this morning accepted the report of the commissioners appointed to assess damages or benefits resulting from the closing of a portion of Canal Street.

The report stated that the Times and Alleganian Company and the Western Maryland Railway were the only business that abutted on the portion of the street that will be closed, and that the Times and Alleganian would suffer only nominal damages estimated at $1, while the rail firm would receive benefits placed at $1.

Included with the commissioner's brief was a report of estimated damages prepared by representatives of Joseph H. Reinhardt, proprietor of a business at the intersection of Baltimore and Canal streets, and who had protested the April ordinance calling for the closing of the Canal Street portion.

Railroad To Pay Costs
Since the Western Maryland owned most of the property abutting on the street, the commissioners recommended that the rail firm pay the costs incident to the closing of the street.

The Western Maryland offered the city a portion of land on North Mechanic Street where their freight station was formerly located, if permission would be granted for the closing of the portion of Canal Street. A commercial parking lot will be constructed on the site of the old freight shed after it is demolished.

The Mayor and Council approved issuance of a check for $322 to William J. and Mildred R. Spicer for damages suffered by their property on Blackstone Avenue due to a failure of the sewer system during heavy rains in June.

Report Submitted
The Tri-State Discount Center was granted permission to place a canvass sign across Oldtown Road at Gay Street in connection with the opening of the business. The sign will be up for the remainder of the month and under the jurisdiction of the Police Department.

Thomas S. Post, superintendent of the city's sewage treatment plant, submitted a report of operations for July. The sewage flow for the month was estimated at 163,668,000 gallons, the report indicated. The plant also generated 244,400 cubic feet of gas which was used for heating the property.

LaVale Property Purchased by SR

The State Roads Commission has purchased three more strips of land along U. S. Route 40 in LaVale which are needed for the modernization project between the Mt. Savage Road intersection and Long.

Properties were bought from Ernest N. Screen, Jessie M. and Ruth Anita Barry and Nannie Marie Tiley.

More than a dozen pieces of property needed along the right of way have been bought in the past two weeks.

School Lunch Program Cost Shows Rise

Loss Of Surplus
Meat Commodities
Figured In Hike

The cost of operating the school lunch program in Allegany County's schools increased sharply in 1957-58 over the previous year.

Records kept by the supervisor of cafeterias, Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, attribute the rise in cost to the loss of meat from the government surplus food program, increase in the price of milk during the year, and added charges for canned goods.

Probably the most serious loss was the surplus meat commodities which the Allegany County Board of Education had received for a number of years.

Cost Rise-Shown
As a result of this the cost for meat rose $35,894, from $24,461 in 1956-57 to $64,355 last year.

Milk took a jump in price and the charges for this went up from $159,724 in 1956-57 to $171,784 last year, an increase of $12,059.

Canned goods went from $66,983 in 1956-57 to $77,376 in 1957-58, a jump of $10,393.

All of these increases came when there was little change in the number of meals served.

In fact there were fewer because there was one day less of school last year than the previous year.

Number Drops
The school cafeterias served 1,843,370 meals in 1957-58 while 1,851,637 were served in 1956-57.

As a result, income from the students dropped from $482,406 in 1956-57 to $471,054 last year.

The cost of the hot lunch for older students is 25 cents, and the meal contains one half of the daily nutritional requirements for growing youngsters. For the younger ones, the cost is 20 cents a day. The meals include a bottle of milk.

Total income, including subsidies, amounted to $572,836 in 1956-57 as compared to $609,699 last year.

Total disbursements came to $628,227 in 1957-58 as compared to $565,420 the previous year.

Council Hires Police, Firemen

The Mayor and Council this morning approved two men as employees of the Police Department and one member of the Fire Department.

Approved for the Police Department were Donald L. Davis and Robert E. Shoemaker, John H. Martin was approved for employment on the Fire Department.

All three men were approved by the Civil Service Commission as of last Friday.

The council also approved hiring Mrs. Dorothy Wolford, 509 Baltimore Avenue, as a clerk in the Police Department. She will replace Mrs. Margaret Sisk who has been granted a leave of absence.

Frostburg Firm Receives Contract

Jesse C. Fuller and Sons, 19 Braddock Street, Frostburg, has been awarded the contract to make alterations to attic floors in the girls and boys dormitories at Frostburg State Teachers College. The Fuller firm was low bidder with $11,780.

License Approved

The McGregor Novelty Company of Frostburg was approved for a license to operate amusement machines in this city at this morning's session of the Mayor and Council. The request had been turned down at last Monday's meeting when it was assumed the machines were pinball devices.

NEW YOUTH CENTER—The South Cumberland Rec Center swung into action Saturday night, with a dance marking the opening of the Virginia Avenue headquarters for the youth of that area. All activities will be supervised, although members will vote to select a Youth Council that will set up rules and regulations and plan a schedule of events. The center will be open daily from 6 to 11 p. m. to provide a meeting place for South Cumberland teenagers. The organization is sponsored by the Cumberland Police Department, whose personnel will supervise activities.

Two Youths Die In Crash On Turnpike

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—An auto ran into the rear of a tractor-trailer truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near this southwestern Pennsylvania community last night, killing two 19-year-old Akron, Ohio, youths and injuring two other persons.

Killed were the driver of the car, Robert Norman Fry, and Robert G. Bevell.

Admitted to Somerset Hospital in critical condition was Fry's mother Mrs. Margaret Fry, 41, who lived at the same address as her son.

Fry's sister, Sandra, 17, was treated at the hospital then released.

Another passenger in the car, Glen Strosaker, 20, of R.D. 1, Clinton, Ohio, was not injured.

The driver of the truck, Michael Caropoli Jr., 30, of Youngstown, Ohio, also escaped injury.

State police said that Fry apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Museum Seeks Fire Engine

The Cumberland Fire Department apparently has a piece of equipment that rates as an antique.

The Mayor and Council this morning accepted a bid of $275 from the Eeldstein Iron and Metal Company for a decommissioned fire engine pumper.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming told Council that among the bids received was one from a museum that expressed interest in obtaining the pumper for exhibition purposes.

Council Advances Payday For City

The Mayor and Council this morning approved an order by Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder that called for the issuance of payroll checks for the first half of August this Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Roeder pointed out that the regular payday will fall on Saturday and might cause a hardship to employees who would not be paid until after the weekend.

Gives Invocation

This morning's session of City Council was opened with an invocation pronounced by Rev. Jacob H. Snyder, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church.

South End Rec Center Opened

The South Cumberland Rec Center, for teenagers of that section of town, officially began operations Saturday night with a dance at its location on Virginia Avenue.

Mrs. Maryland Fisher, who has spearheaded the campaign to provide a recreation center for the youth of South Cumberland, said the headquarters will be open from 6 to 11 p. m. daily.

Youth of the area will be able to purchase membership cards during the coming week, and those registered will be allowed to vote next week for a Youth Council, which will be the governing body of the rec center, Mrs. Fisher said.

Officers On Hand
The Cumberland Police Department has assumed sponsorship of the South Cumberland organization, and a policeman and policewoman will be on hand for activities other than the regular schedule of daily activities.

The special events, such as dances, will be arranged by the Youth Council after its election. Mrs. Fisher explaining that the teenagers will be allowed to arrange the schedule, with final approval required by responsible adults.

A number of regulations regarding dress and behavior have already been set up, and others will be made as needed. Although there will always be chaperones on hand, Mrs. Fisher said, it is desired to keep them as much in the background as possible.

Equipment Donated
Equipment for various activities and games has been donated. Mrs. Fisher said, and the City Recreation Department has advised that it will furnish additional material. Particularly needed at present is a ping pong table, although games of any sort will be welcomed, according to Mrs. Fisher.

The youth of the area has worked hard for the rec center, she continued, and many adults and organizations have contributed both money and effort in getting it organized. Containers for donations have been placed in a number of South Cumberland business places, Mrs. Fisher said, and the returns have been of great help towards the payment of rent for the premises.

It is hoped that the center will be self-supporting in time, Mrs. Fisher continued, explaining that donations are urgently needed at present to help get the project "off the ground."

Little League Day Passed By Council

The Mayor and Council this morning voted to accept a request of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to proclaim next Sunday as "Little League Day."

The request was included in a letter which explained that a city all-star team will play an all-star team from Little League teams in Ellicott City at the Penn Avenue field next Sunday.

Members of the council were invited to attend the game, at which Robert M. (Lefty) Grove, Hall of Fame pitcher from Lonaconing, will throw out the first ball.

Taken under consideration by council was a request by the Department of Maryland, Military Order of the Purple Heart, that George Washington's headquarters be removed from the old Riverside Park site and placed on the lawn at the Court House.

A similar request has been filed with the Board of Commissioners of Allegany County, along with a recommendation that a custodian be retained and the headquarters open to the public at least one day a week.

Teamsters Get
COL Increase
A cost of living increase of three cents an hour will be in the paychecks of 900 members of Local 453, Teamsters Union, in the first pay period this month, according to C. E. Stutzman, union business agent.

Stutzman said the increase results from a contract which went into effect May 4 for the drivers and garage men in the Bedford and Somerset area. Seven large transportation companies are involved in the pay raise.

Stutzman also said talks on a new contract for Cumberland area freight haulers will be started Thursday.

J. R. Wilkinsons Top Special Bridge Event

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Wilkinsons, 618 Washington Street, topped their section in a bridge tournament held Saturday in Miami, Fla., over 215 other pairs.

They won the "Board of Paradise" pairs, a special one-session event in the summer national championships of the American Contract Bridge League being held in Miami.

John Elwood Shaw, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Shaw, Green Spring, and Ronald Franklin Glaze, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin C. Glaze, 9 Second Street, Oakland.

The seven youths have been sent to the Great Lakes (Ill.) Training Station for basic training.

Remains Critical

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, remains in "critical" condition today in Sacred Heart Hospital. Father Landrigan recently underwent surgery at the hospital.

Breaking And Entering, Larceny Being Probed

Another breaking and entering was reported to City Police this morning who received three other such complaints over the weekend.

Det. Lt. James E. Van said the latest complaint was from the Harris Motor Express Company of Cumberland.

Police said the intruder entered by forcing a window in the building. Eight cases of cigarettes were reported stolen.

Richard Fox, 110 Utah Avenue, told police someone entered his apartment over the weekend and took a large brown suitcase containing $200 in bills and some papers.

Entrance to the apartment over a garage at the rear of the Utah Avenue address was gained by forcing a second floor door.

The outside door was unlocked. The intruder apparently used his shoulder to force the door, since no marks were found.

Nothing was disturbed except the suitcase, which was behind a bed. An electric blanket on the bed was slashed at the control.

William Malachowski, 24 South Street, told police someone took a power mower from his premises. He set a value of $85 on the mower.

The Briggs and Stratton power mower engine is a Model 6BH with a serial number of 193703.

A large bird bath, valued at $10 and taken from the yard of Elmer Ryan, 113 Elder Street, was later found in a parked truck on that street, police said.

Work Asked On Frederick Street Block

Business Places
Report Drainage
Problem Is Bad

The related problems of the financial condition of the city and repairs needed on the city street system was brought to the attention of the Mayor and Council this morning.

The matter arose when a letter from a number of business places in the 100-block of Frederick Street was read, the group requesting that a drainage condition be corrected.

Pointing out that the condition went back to 1951 when a pressure sewer was laid in connection with the flood control project, the businessmen said the problem has become not only an unsanitary condition, but a traffic hazard for both motorists and pedestrians.

Cites Responsibility

Street Commissioner John J. Long asked what the estimated cost of replacing the concrete slab would be, and voiced the opinion that the contractor or someone should be held responsible for the failure to place the street in its original condition.

The only solution to the Frederick Street problem, and the majority of projects faced by the Street Department, is repaving, the street commissioner said. The only drawback, he continued, is that no money is available for the work.

The city auditor, Arthur B. Gibson, informed Council that the contractor had furnished a bond for the Frederick Street work, and it was recognized at the time that the work was only of a stop-gap nature.

Gibson Explains Action

Residents of the area were informed of the problem at the time, but they did not want to have the street closed—the only way in which a permanent job could be done, Gibson said.

Street Superintendent Andrew Heller said his department is faced with innumerable problems relating to the flood control project, and also pointed out that he has only 52 men with which to do the work. When the first was employed by the city 33 years ago, Heller said there were 88 men to take care of the city's streets. In that time the city has doubled in size, Heller said.

One of the major headaches facing his department is the size of the city's sewers. They were large enough for their needs 30 years ago, but should have been replaced with the growth of the city, he stated.

Street Repairs Asked

Several residents of the city appeared before Council to ask that repairs be made on streets.

Leo Twigg informed Council that Lexington Avenue has some large holes in its surface that are a hazard to drivers, while Thomas Russell said there was a bad drainage situation on West Elder Street. Heller informed Council that he was aware of both problems, and that they were on the agenda for correction.

Navy Enlists Seven Youths

Seven area youths have been enlisted in the Navy at the local recruiting station.

They are James Walter Howser, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Howser, 124 Arch Street; John Kenneth Largent, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Travis, 618 Montgomery Avenue.

John Michael Lannon, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lannon, 31 East Harrison Street, Piedmont; Francis Dale Wade, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aloysius Wade, Frostburg; Robert Russell Wade, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Raymond Taylor, Beryl, W. Va.

John Elwood Shaw, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Shaw, Green Spring, and Ronald Franklin Glaze, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin C. Glaze, 9 Second Street, Oakland.

The seven youths have been sent to the Great Lakes (Ill.) Training Station for basic training.

Price Of First Peach Shipments Termed Low

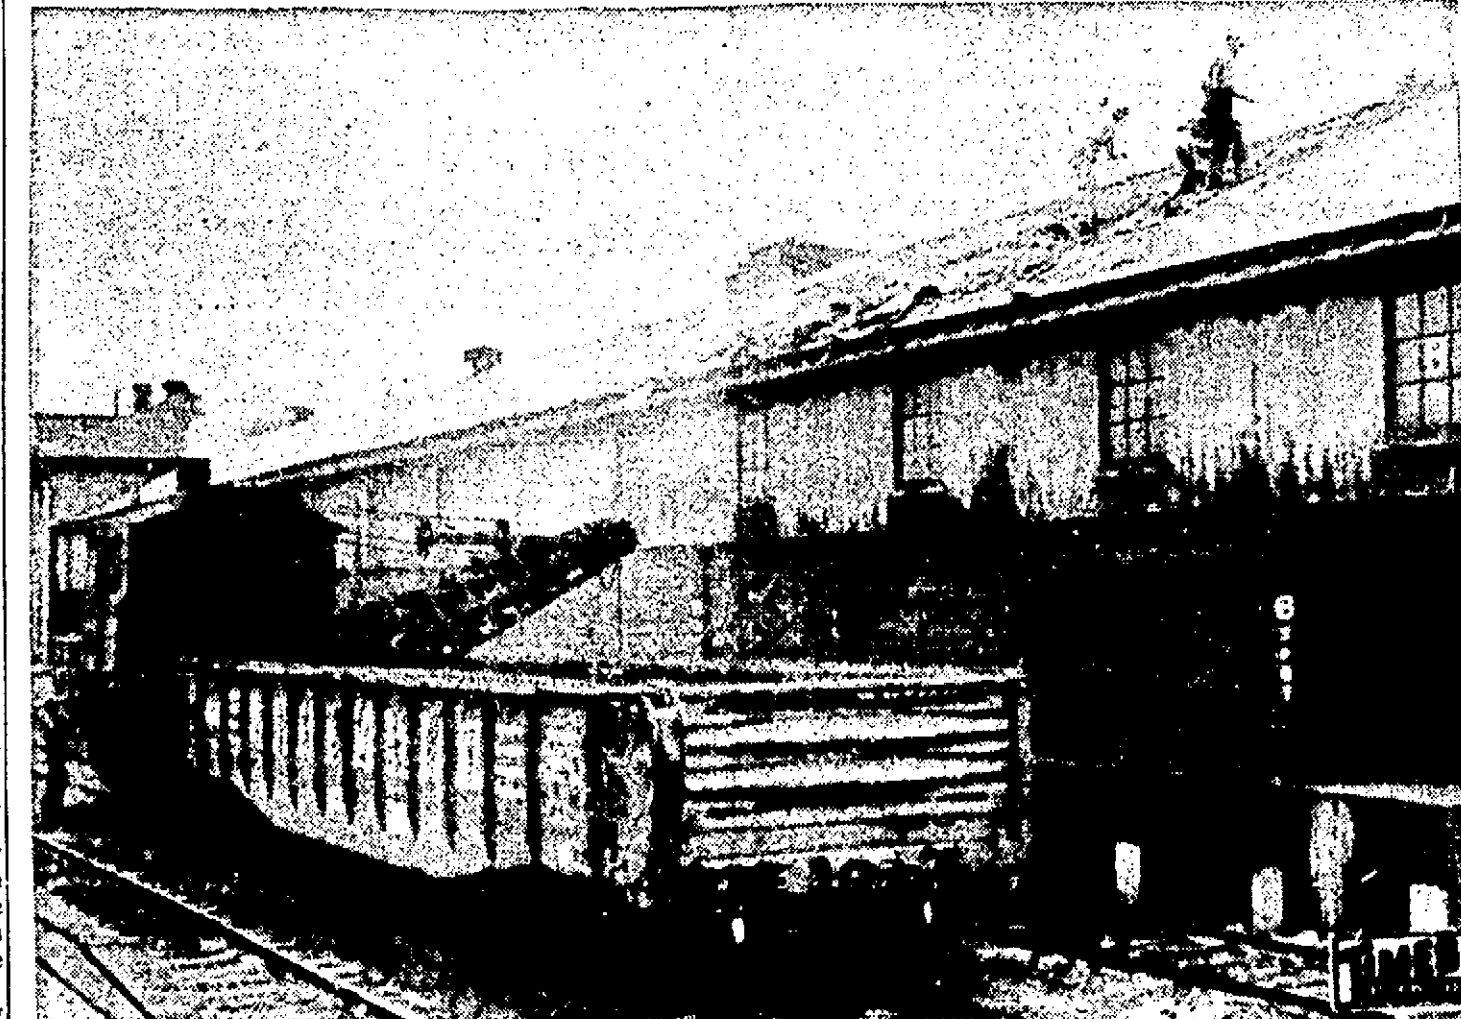

Prices were low on the first moved. These will be picked during the next ten days.

Prices are starting out well, Sumner pointed out, with bushels of U. S. No. 1, 2½¢ and up bringing $2.50 to $2.75 FOB Romney. The demand is fairly good.

From August 20 to August 25 the major commercial variety, Elbertas, will be harvested and shipped.

The fruit belt, which annually produces a quarter of a million bushels of peaches, will have fruit with a quarter inch extra in size because of the favorable growing season, Sumner added.

Favorable crops in the New Jersey, North Carolina and Michigan peach growing sections have put the price for the good variety low.

FREIGHT SHED ON WAY OUT—The freight shed of the Western Maryland Railway, built in 1912 on South Mechanic Street, is being torn down to make way for a 100-car parking lot. Railroad crews are shown above this morning as they began to remove the roof of the metal building. The shed and the old freight office, shown in the far left, will be leveled soon.

Young Yanks Regarded As Swim Threats

By DALE BURGESS
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—America's young swimmers didn't challenge Australian and Japanese records in the AAU national championships over the weekend, but they will be contenders at Rome in 1960.

That is how the U.S. swimming situation was sized up by such veteran coaches as Bob Kipphut, in his 42nd year at Yale, and Mike Peppe, 28 years at Ohio State.

"If the Olympics were today," Peppe said, "Australia and Japan would beat us. By 1960, these strong teen-agers can challenge anybody."

The Indianapolis Athletic Club successfully defended its team championship with a young crop of native Americans. The team champion seldom has repeated in the AAU.

Joe Henricks and Murray Rose, Australians borrowed from the University of Southern California by the Los Angeles Athletic Club, were just as terrific as expected—but they couldn't push their team higher than second, 83 points to the IAC's 93.

Frank McKinney Jr. of Indianapolis, 19-year-old son of the former Democratic national chairman, successfully defended both his 100 and 200-meter backstroke championships, setting an American and AAU record of 2:20.8 in the 200. He was pushed to the limit in the 100 by Cleveland's Louis Schaefer, the national high school champion, and tied his own AAU record of 1:04.5.

The Indianapolis team uncorked a couple of real surprises in Mike Troy, a June high school graduate who tied the AAU record of 1:02.8 in winning the 100-meter butterfly, and Allen Somers, who still has a year of high school but finished a stout third in the punishing 1500-meter freestyle.

O'Brien set a new stadium record of 62 feet, 5 1/2 inches Sunday to win his shot put specialty. The Los Angeles muscle man, who holds the world mark of 63 feet 1 1/2 inches, thus climaxed an unbroken series of wins at Moscow over the Russians, at Warsaw over the Poles, at Budapest over the Hungarians, and here over the Greeks. He was presented with a trophy as the outstanding performer in the two-day meet.

The United States' men's teams outscored its rivals in each of the four capital cities; the U. S. women were beaten in Moscow and Warsaw but were victorious in Budapest and Athens.

Cary Middlecoff had a 197—13 under par and 3 strokes ahead of a couple of golfing youngsters — Billy Casper Jr. and Bob Goalby.

Frederick Bows In Legion Finals

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Neil Vaughn, twirling a four-hitter and getting three singles and an RBI at the plate, pitched his Greenbelt team to the state American Legion Junior Baseball title yesterday with a 13-4 victory over Frederick.

The winners will go to Elkton Aug. 23-25 for the Region 3 playoff.

The defending champions of Frederick tallied with three runs in the eighth inning but it was too late against Greenbelt's slugger.

Greenbelt scored two runs in each of the second, fifth and seventh innings, then piled on seven more in the eighth. The winners had 18 hits in all—six of them in the eighth—for their third victory against no losses in the double elimination tournament.

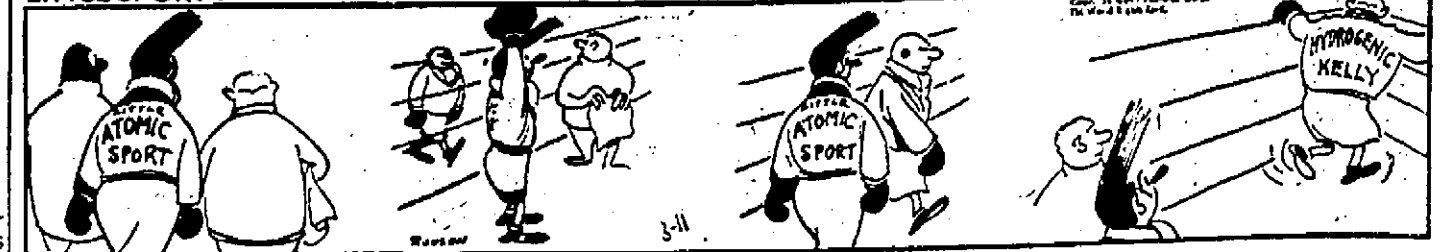

Vaughn struck out seven and walked six to win.

LITTLE SPORT

Rangers Retain Unbeaten String

The Hill Street Rangers, with Wayne Holly rapping out a bases-loaded double and single, defeated Wiley Ford's Blues, 9-5, in the lifeline of a Tip-Top League doubleheader and capped the nightcap, 6-4, paced by the hitting of Tom Wilhelm.

South End's Aces turned back Ridgevale, 14-2, as Ronnie Peters starred at bat for the victors, getting four hits in the opener. South End also won the second game of the bargain bill, 11-3. Gerald Bowman obtained three of the winners' safeties. Jim Mitchell of Ridgevale swatted the only home run of the day, in the second game.

West Side's Hawks won two games via the forfeit route when Frederick Street couldn't field a team at the Naval Reserve Field.

Hot-And-Cold Orioles Play Yanks Pair Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Things could be worse for the Baltimore Orioles. For example, they could be minus Gus Triandos or Billy O'Dell.

Triandos not only holds his own behind the plate but he's been a big man at the plate. His batting average is only .267 but he's slammed 23 homers and 56 rbis. Three of those circuit smashes came in the last four-game series with Washington.

Big Gus already has hit more homers than any Oriole ever hit during a full season since the franchise came to Baltimore in 1954. And without his big bat this year there's no telling how low Baltimore might be in the American League right now.

As it is, the Orioles are hanging on to sixth place, a single game in front of Kansas City, after splitting yesterday's doubleheader with the Senators in Washington. The Orioles won 6-1 in the nightcap on Billy O'Dell's five-hitter after losing 6-2 in the first.

It took O'Dell to tame the lowly Senators after Baltimore could manage only two tallies on 12 hits in the opener. O'Dell evened his record at 10 and 10 for the year.

Baltimore meets the Yankees this afternoon and again tonight in a separate admission doubleheader. Jack Harshman (8-10) and Connie Johnson (3-7) are slated to start for the Orioles against Art Ditmar (8-2) and Johnny Kucks (7-4).

Eddie Yost and Albie Pearson were the only Senators able to solve O'Dell's fast ball and slider in yesterday's nightcap. Yost collecting three and Pearson two safeties. Both Oriole shortstops Willy Miranda and Foster Castleman, were hurt in this game on freak plays, but x-rays taken later in Baltimore showed no fractures.

Pedro Ramos received credit for his 11th win, against 10 losses, in the opener. He gave up 12 hits and needed help from Washington relief specialist Dick Hyde in the ninth. The Orioles left 10 men stranded and scored their only runs on Triandos' 23rd homer in the sixth and Joe Ginsberg's pinchhit single in the same frame.

Milt Pappas was Baltimore's starter and loser in the opener, giving up four runs and seven hits in 3 1-3 innings. Ken Lehman pitched the rest of the way and gave up two runs on five hits. Pappas is now 7-6 for the season.

The three-way tie for first place in the City High School Baseball League will be broken today when two of the deadlocked teams, Forty Niners and Veterans of Foreign Wars, tangle at Stitzer Field.

The third top club, Gurley's Garage, will go against winless Toy Shop (3-0) on the Fort Hill diamond. Both are slated for 6 p. m.

The co-pacers, tied for the top since Friday, are all in with 2-1 records. These same teams finished in a triple knot for first-half honors.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, August 12, 1958
MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Splendid influences, but it may take exceptionally clever strategy to carry out even the most brilliant ideas and plans. Most activities under good aspects.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—The position of your Venus now stresses a need for patience and moderation. Otherwise, the influences are good and you should make fine headway.
MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—A good day in which to deal with superiors, those in authority, business executives, heads of institutions. Avoid abruptness, however.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer)—Substantial enterprises, labor activities, transportation, handling lumber, steel and everyday implements among today's most favored activities. Be patient in delicate matters.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo)—This could be a most fortunate and profitable period but you will have to cooperate with the right sources. The advice and experience of others will prove extremely helpful.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo)—Be especially careful in written matters, voicing opinions, making agreements, etc. The day has many advantages, however—especially for personal attainment. An excellent outlook for industry and science.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra)—Similar to Taurus. Be sensible in the course you choose and the way you handle things. Avoid extremes.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio)—Good aspects! Work for the high achievement you can attain. Personal and household affairs, travel among especially favored activities.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—A fine day for spiritual development, educational activities and artistic pursuits. Don't worry over quick monetary returns; work for quality.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—Excellent aspects from Saturn, the Sun and Mars. You should be able to achieve a great deal in your specific field. Forward!

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—You may have to give more care and attention to duties than usual now. But, if steady in purpose and action, you can keep pace with demand and do a good job.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Auspicious rays. Matters requiring insight, endurance and patience especially favored. You can make gains in a number of fields.

State Police Probe Termed "Whitewash"

Hyman Pressman, Baltimore Lawyer, Asks Second Check

BALTIMORE (AP) — Atty. Hyman Pressman today termed as a whitewash a State Police board's report on the case of the three unserved warrants.

Pressman called on Gov. McKeldin to name a separate committee to investigate the case.

An aide to the governor said he would get a full briefing on it when he returns from Europe tomorrow.

Pressman, perennial neddler of politicians and public agencies, said he has written the governor, saying State Police "have shown that they are either unwilling or incapable of cleaning their own house."

He said "their haste to whitewash the proceedings... was perfectly outrageous." He charged, too, that the police board of inquiry had shunned Alvin J. T. Zumburn, managing director of the Criminal Justice Commission. It was Zumburn who touched off the warrants investigation.

The board, composed of three police captains, said State Police Major William H. Weber had "exercised prudent judgment" in refusing service of three traffic warrants on Sydney S. Sappington, a Baltimore contractor.

The board said Corp. Marlin S. Clevenger, who had obtained the warrants, had failed to go through channels in handling them.

In its report issued last Friday, the board recommended that the warrants charging drunk driving and disorderly conduct be dismissed and that only the one charging reckless driving be processed.

Corporal Clevenger, then a trooper, obtained the warrants on May 29, 1957 after he stopped a car on Ritchie highway six days earlier. He was off duty at the time. The warrants were never served.

The driver challenged Clevenger's identity as a trooper although he presented his credentials. While Clevenger telephoned for a uniformed trooper the car drove off.

Guard Units Patrol Flooded W. Va. Areas

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Parts of two West Virginia National Guard companies continued patrol today in the areas near here struck by weekend floods as Gov. Cecil H. Underwood awaited word from President Eisenhower on his request for allocation of emergency funds for the affected spots.

Underwood wired Eisenhower Saturday night and asked the President to declare the Kanawha County areas of Two - Mile Creek, Cooper's Creek and Mill Creek disaster areas, making them eligible for funds available to the President for just such emergencies.

The federal funds, if approved by the White House, would finance reconstruction of roads and schools damaged by the floods Friday night. The Red Cross is handling the restoration of personal property.

Federal Civil Defense engineer George Rothrock toured the flood-stricken area Sunday. State Civil Defense authorities and National Guard officials estimated the damage at upwards of $276,000. No action on Underwood's request was expected until Rothrock submits his report.

U. S. Sen. Chapman Revercomb (R-W. Va.) said he was assured by the White House that Underwood's request for aid "is receiving immediate attention."

The senator also said he has asked the Small Business Administration to declare the damaged region a disaster area "so that emergency disaster loans may be extended promptly to small businesses."

"From the reports I have received, I am convinced that federal aid is urgently needed to expedite the clean-up efforts that are underway by local authorities," Revercomb said.

Clinics set up by the Kanawha-Charleston Health Department provided typhoid inoculations Sunday afternoon for some 800 residents of the stricken area. The department planned to repeat the clinic next Sunday.

In his message to the President, Underwood said federal aid "is required to supplement the limited state and local authorities are able to render, and the voluntary assistance of relief and charitable institutions."

"The State of West Virginia does not have funds available to cope with this situation," Underwood said.

Underwood estimated damage to roads, highways and bridges at more than a half a million dollars and said schools were damaged "severely."

Poodles Get Training As Bird Hunters

BOLTON, Md. (AP)—You don't usually think of dainty debutantes going out and pumping water and chopping wood. But the equivalent of that happened in the dog world at an Eastern Shore clinic this summer.

Wooly, toy-like French poodles were trained as bird dogs. About 20 learned retrieving, a favor at the Greenspring Poodle Club's Retriever Clinic at this Talbot County town.

The poodles which worked out at Bolton Farm were brought here by their owners once a week. Some were from nearby points, others as far away as Baltimore, Washington and New York.

The dogs went through several courses. After getting used to a gun and learning commands, the poodles advanced to retrieving out of a boat and handling decoys and working out of a blind.

Before getting his final degree, the poodle had to have nine hours in the shooting field. Mrs. Dorman Covington, who helped guide the clinic, says French poodles make excellent bird dogs. They originally were used as water retrievers in Europe, but in this country they've been used as show-ring pets.

"We haven't trained French poodles as bird retrievers in this country for centuries, and it's going to take a while to get them back on their feet," she says.
